

Alpha Converting Celebrates 25 Years of Success

Bedford, UK – Alpha Converting, proudly marks its 25th anniversary this year. The milestone comes on the heels of an exceptionally busy year, underscoring the company's sustained growth and resilience.

Founded 25 years ago by Simon King, Alpha Converting has evolved from a small startup into a robust enterprise, thanks to its unwavering commitment to quality and innovation. Over the years, the company has built a strong and loyal customer base, which has been instrumental in its journey from strength to strength.

Reflecting on this significant achievement, Simon said “We have had a lot of fun over the last 25 years and our innovation has led us into new markets and opportunities. Our customers are of course in traditional converting markets, but also everything from food to consumer products. The skill and adaptability of our staff has enabled us to make advanced automated machines for a really diverse product mix, and I believe that our customers have been able to reap the benefits.”

Alpha Converting is excited about its continuous growth plans, as it remains committed to delivering exceptional service and innovative solutions to its customers, continuing the legacy of excellence that has defined its first 25 years.
